

Livestock Project Newsletter

May 2022

We hope that each of you are actively involved in your livestock projects. One of the most important things to ensure your safety is to be working with your animal - getting it used to the halter, teaching it to lead, and getting to know your animal in general. You will have a much more rewarding fair experience if you are prepared.

Please read this letter carefully and note the items related to your project requirements and deadlines that need to be completed.

If you have questions or concerns, please contact Sarah sarah.grotjan@wisc.edu or Vicki vicki.handschke@outagamie.org or contact the resource leaders for the species you are enrolled in.

Health rules for exhibiting livestock at county fair in July are posted at www.outagamiecountyfair.com select entries/contests then health rules. Note – swine require a certificate of veterinary inspection (CVI), also known as a health certificate, which needs to be signed by your veterinarian. The swine show is a non-terminal show. All hogs coming to the fairgrounds must be accompanied with a paper copy of a negative test PRRS and PEVD virus per farm. If you have further questions regarding the health rules, please consult with your veterinarian.

The fair must maintain records of persons who have exhibited at the fair and the identification of animals shown for five years. Acceptable forms of animal identification for breeding animals are: 1) An official metal ear tag number, 2) A breed registration number, 3) A breed registration tattoo. Breeding sheep need a scrapie tag. For market animals, an official ear tag number or the ear tag applied at weigh-in may be used. The premise ID is where the animal is raised.

Master Showman competition will be held Saturday, July 23 after the Pork Pals Spectacular in the Livestock Building.

Four youth livestock members, one member representing each category, Beef, Swine, Sheep, and Goats will have the chance to compete against one another. Each of the Supreme Champions will show one animal from each species.

Master Showman consists of the Supreme Showman from each livestock species: Beef, Swine, Sheep and Goats. The Supreme Showman is chosen from the top Showman of each age group in each species. A youth that has won Supreme Showman in more than one species will be asked to choose which species they would like to represent. The Reserve Supreme Showman will then be asked to represent that species in Master Showman. If the Grand Champion decides they do not want to participate then the Reserve Grand Champion will be allowed to participate in their place.

If anyone has any questions, please feel free to reach out to any of the following youth livestock committee members.
